OUR KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

RACHAEL MOSES OBE

9:45-10:20

Leadership Matters, But Why?

Rachael is a Consultant Respiratory Physiotherapist with interests including complex ventilation, airway clearance techniques and advanced care planning for people with long term conditions. Rachael is currently Head of Clinical Leadership Development at NHS England and is National Clinical Advisor for Respiratory with the Personalised Care Team at NHSE. She is passionate about raising awareness regarding equity, diversity and inclusion and showcasing the huge value of multi-professional working and personalised care.

PROFESSOR ANNE-MAREE KEENAN OBE

16:05-16:45

Leading and Working in Multi-Disciplinary Teams

Anne-Maree is Pro-Dean for Research for the Faculty of Medicine and Health at the University of Leeds, Strategic Lead for the NIHR Leeds Biomedical Centre (BRC) and is a podiatrist. With 25 years of applied health research, with experience in a variety of research methodologies, including randomised controlled trials, structural equation modelling, prevalence studies and qualitative methodology, Anne-Maree has overseen a portfolio of £40M institutional strategic awards and personal funding of £9M. Her research interests focus on multi-disciplinary approaches which improves the health of people with musculoskeletal disease in general, with a specific interest in midfoot osteoarthritis and is an NIHR Senior Investigator.

KATHERINE BROCK

10:20-10:55

Do Multidisciplinary Teams Actually Work to Help Patients? The Benefits and Barriers of the MDT.

Katherine graduated from the University of Sheffield with a diploma in Dental Hygiene and Dental Therapy in September 2021. She now works across 3 dental practices in Manchester, both NHS and private. She has a particular passion for oral health promotion for all and had her university project about oral health in young offenders prisons published in the British Society of Dental Hygiene & Therapy journal, in 2022. Katherine is the Future Frontline Healthcare Professionals Co-Director.

MIRIAM KERSHAW

10:20-10:55

Do Multidisciplinary Teams Actually Work to Help Patients? The Benefits and Barriers of the MDT.

Miriam graduated from Leeds Beckett University in 2020 and has been working as a Registered Dietitian for a community NHS Trust ever since. Miriam works for a team that promotes the food first approach to nutritional care and provides education to care homes, GPs and other health professionals about the appropriate prescribing of nutritional products like oral nutritional supplements. Miriam is the Future Frontline Healthcare Professionals Co-Director.

OUR STUDENT SPEAKERS
